

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The objective of the investment fund is to make the Polish bond market accessible to the investors, and to function as a relatively stable, medium-risk investment form bringing steady real yields to our Clients on middle term already, without having to tie down their money for a fixed period of time. The Fund mainly invests in Polish government securities issued in zloty, however, the portfolio manager has some room to complement the portfolio with other bond-type investments. Our goal is to achieve the highest yield while taking the lowest risk. To make investment decisions we use the tools of both fundamental and technical analysis, and we take into consideration the investor sentiment on the markets at all times. The portfolio manager seeks out potential investment opportunities based on the macro-economical expectations, the expected yield curve, the return expected on the curve and the market volatility, and selects investments that are considered to be safe and bring relatively high yields in exchange for the risks taken. The Fund strives for complete exchange risk coverage of foreign currency exposure for the target currency.

MARKET SUMMARY

In July, Polish bonds experienced a stronger month: on the 3-year maturity yields decreased by 30-, on the 5 year maturity by 37-, and on the 10 year maturity by 39 basis points. At the beginning of the month, the Polish central bank kept the base rate unchanged, so it remained at 5.75% in line with market expectations. The communication from the central bank governor remained hawkish, stating that they are unlikely to begin the rate-cutting cycle before 2026 because inflation, due to the government's decision to normalize energy prices, will start rising again. Currently the inflation is 4,2% year on year in July according to the preliminary estimates, which was already a big rebound from the previous month 2.6%, but came below the market expectations of 4,4%. The higher price increase was mainly driven by the aforementioned normalization of energy prices. According to a Bloomberg survey in July, the Polish economy may have grown by 2.8% in the second quarter, and next year's GDP growth forecast was revised up from 3.5% to 3.8%. The Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) rose to 47.3 in July from the previous month's 45 arriving above market expectations. While the indicator is still below the 50 threshold, the latest value was above the trend line, indicating that although the subcomponents still show a decline, the pace is slower than measured in the previous month. Industrial production posted an increase of 0.3% in the fifth month of the year, thus arrived above market expectations. As for the state budget, the government generated a deficit of 16,794.3 million PLN in the sixth month of the year, bringing the 12-month rolling budget deficit to 4.13% of GDP. Polish long bond yields peaked on the 5th of July YTD, before we gradually increased duration, which added to the performance of the Fund.
