

VIG Global Emerging Market Bond Investment Fund

R series HUF MONTHLY report - 2024 DECEMBER (made on: 12/31/2024)

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The Fund aims to achieve capital growth by investing in bonds of emerging European countries and state-owned companies. The Fund does not apply credit rating restrictions: it may purchase securities of any country or company with any long-term credit rating. The Fund aims for the highest possible capital growth alongside reasonable risk-taking. The Fund primarily purchases foreign currency emerging market bonds, in addition to which it holds Hungarian local currency short-term and long-term bonds for diversification and liquidity management purposes. The bond portfolio may also include short-term, long-term, fixed or floating-rate, structured and convertible bonds issued by mortgage credit institutions, other credit institutions, local governments or other business entities. The core of the Fund's investments is Central Eastern Europe (Hungary, Croatia, Poland, Romania, Slovakia, Ukraine), South East Europe (Serbia, Turkey), the Baltics (Latvia, Lithuania) and the Commonwealth of Independent States (Azerbaijan, Belarus, Kazakhstan, Russia, Georgia, Armenia) and bonds of majority state-owned companies, in addition to which the Fund holds short-term and long-term Hungarian government securities for diversification and liquidity management purposes. The target weight for bond exposures in the Fund in the 16 countries listed (target countries) is 95%. We do not set a limit on debt classification in the Fund. The Fund may only conclude derivative transactions for hedging purposes, or in the interest of establishing an efficient portfolio. The Fund may also hold non-leveraged bond-type collective investment forms. The Fund may also take on significant foreign currency exposure, which is normally covered 100% by the Fund Manager in the target currency (USD), but depending on market conditions, the Fund may also hold open foreign currency positions.

MARKET SUMMARY

Following a 50 basis points rate cut in September and a 25bp cut in November, the FOMC balloted to lower the federal funds target range by another quarter of percent to 4.25-4.50% range. Given the FOMC's new dots projections against a setting of still strong GDP growth and sticky core inflation, the market now forecasts slower and fewer rate cuts ahead. Therefore, the December Fed meeting proved to be more hawkish than expected by the majority of the market participants. This prompted another rise in the U.S. Treasury yields and the U.S. Dollar, pressuring the long end of the curve, bond proxies and EM assets along. The rise in UST yields triggered a market environment, where virtually all asset classes have started to leak. Equity market breadth is already at very low levels though. Meanwhile, US growth expectations are being revised higher more aggressively, as are inflation expectations. Near-term earnings expectations for the S&P 500 are still low though.

Equity-to-bond yield correlations have moved into the negative again with markets being particularly sensitive to rising short-end rates - continued rises in bond yields without better growth might start to weigh more on equities and risky assets overall. Japanese equities have outperformed more than expected boosted by a much lower JPYUSD rate while EM and China equities performed poorly due to headwinds from weak macro data and tariffs. Within commodities oil has rallied while cyclical commodities such as Copper and Iron Ore suffered along with China assets. Gold has not suffered much from rising real yields. The Dollar broadly strengthened despite not weakening in November, in particular against cyclical G10 FX - this extends the 'stronger for longer' Dollar trend, which started in October and has come alongside rising implied FX vol.

Earlier in the month, we initiated positions in Bahrain and Nigeria long-end funded from positions in Hungary, UAE and Turkey; later, added to the Ukrainian positions along with cutting some exposure to Israel and Indonesia; slightly added to the positions in Ecuador and Ivory Coast along with a switch from Oman to KSA; further extension of positions in LatAm, Africa and Asia being envisaged.
