Market Summary:

The AEGON Citadella Alfa Derivative Fund managed to pull through these excruciating times, since it mainly kept Hungarian T-bills in its portfolio. We used the panic falls to increase the equity exposure of the Fund, and we bought DAX EX and SPY ETFs, and we also invested into MOL and MTEL equities. Since uncertainty didn't lower on the market we liquidated these positions to protect the money of our investors.

Investment Policy of the Fund:

The AEGON Citadella Alfa is one of the new funds of the Fund Management Company. The Fund is able to invest into practically "everything", according to the anticipation of the Fund Manager. The Fund invests mainly into equities, equity indexes, currency positions, but it can invest in commodity markets as well. This total return derivative fund represents more risk than our other total return fund, the Moneymaxx, since it can use double leverage by investing into derivatives and futures. This means that the value of the positions of the Fund can be the double of its capital resources. Should the price of the fund's assets change by 1% then it is possible that the asset of the fund changes by 2%. Leverage has the potential to enlarge profits or losses by the same magnitude. The greater the amount of leverage on capital you apply, the higher the risk that you will assume. The Fund is allowed to take long positions and uncovered short positions as well. According to this the Fund can bet on a bullish or on a bearish market situation too. The investment policy of the Fund is very similar to the so called global "macro hedge fund" which was made famous by George Soros's Quantum Fund.
