MARKET SUMMARY:

Global market sentiment in June was dominated by the escalation of the European banking and sovereign crisis, with Spain and Greece in focus this time. The risks associated with the outcome of Greek elections weighed on risk appetite in the first half of the month and the relief following the relatively benign result was painfully short-lived. Hesitation by European politicians regarding the Spanish bank recapitalization and the broader issue of moving toward a more complete monetary union that includes a common eurobond and a banking union dragged down sentiment during the month. Climate related sectors showed mixed performance, as alternative energy was negatively affected by the declining oil prices. Agriculture, on the other hand, benefitted from the drought and the skyrocketing soft commodity prices.
