INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND:

The fund aims to share in the yields on equity markets in the Asian region, and to profit from the region's economic growth through share price gains and dividend income. Given the risk profiles of the equity investments, the fund is classified as a high-risk investment. The fund invests its capital in equity-type instruments of the target countries. The fund aims to create an opportunity for investors to invest in equity markets that are representative of the Asian economies. The most important target countries are Hong Kong, India, China, South Korea and Taiwan, but the fund also invests in the capital markets of other Asian countries. This may be achieved through the purchase of individual shares or through collective investment instruments. The fund plans to invest predominantly in the latter, and accordingly, it primarily buys into exchange-traded funds (ETFs) and open-ended public investment funds. In accordance with our obligation under law, we draw the attention of all investors to the fact that the fund is a fund that invests in other investment funds; in other words, in accordance with its investment policy it may invest more than 80 percent of its assets in investment fund shares or securities issued by other collective investment instruments. However, the fund's portfolio will not contain shares of any single investment fund in a weight of over 20%. The fund only invests in investment vehicles whose expense ratio is less than 2.5%, though it always strives to ensure that the overall average fee burden does not exceed 1%.

MARKET SUMMARY:

Equity markets continued to fluctuate around historical highs throughout September. Once again the S&P 500 managed to break new all-time records fuelled by solid corporate earnings revision trajectories and the exceptional strength of the US economy. European indices, on the other hand, kept underperforming US ones as anemic growth prospects weighed on equity prices. With US interest rate hikes on the horizon and the ECB in the easing phase, the USD surged against all major currencies, particularly the EUR. Commodities tumbled across the board from crude prices to industrial metals, basic materials and precious metals due to the pressure stemming from the enormous USD appreciation and the weak European and Chinese growth outlook.

Most of the Asian equity indices closed the month in the negative territory. At the end of September protest began in Hong Kong where the demonstrators claim for free elections. The stock exchange in Hong Kong suffered a significant loss due to the protest. China macro data also continued to disappoint with softer PMIs and a set of deteriorating underlying economic activity indicators published.
