INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND:

The aim of the fund is to provide an alternative solution for those investors who are expecting a decline of the share prices on the Polish Stock Market. In case of declining share prices by its WIG20 short future exposure the fund ensures that the investor will get extra return on his investment. If the fund manager expects that the stock markets will go up than he reduces the option position, but if he sees higher risk in the stock markets than he will buy more put options for the WIG20 Index. Since the capital protection allows the fund manager to buy only limited amount of futures the maximum short exposure of the fund is 100% of the fund's net asset value. Since the fund is a dedicated bearish fund it intends to keep the WIG20 short exposure 20%-40% of net asset value, depends on the strategy of the Fund Manager. To protect the capital, the Fund mainly invests in Polish treasury bills, government bonds and other debt securities. The Fund offers 90% capital protection for the first trading day of the year under special condition. The 90% capital protection is ensured by the investment policy of the Fund, it does not mean a full capital protection.

MARKET SUMMARY:

Equities remained volatile throughout December as markets sold off on tumbling commodity prices and emerging currency concerns followed by a bounce back in the second half of the month. With no quick remedy for the supply glut oil prices remained under pressure regardless of the depressed price levels. China once again staged a huge rally with the Shanghai Composite appreciating by 20% in December driven by momentum trade and the benign effects of the lower commodity price environment. European stimulus expectations and the unfolding Greek political turmoil drove the EUR to multi-year lows against the USD, while US equity markets managed to outperform European indices.

All CEE indices declined in December and all sectors fell in the region, but telecoms and energy were the worst performers. Polish macro data worsened, retail sales fell unexpectedly, industrial production slowed and unemployment rate increased somewhat. LPP performed the worst mainly due to significant Russian exposure and weak sales figures.
