MARKET SUMMARY:

On 4th March, the NBP delivered a 50 bps rate cut and signaled the end of the easing cycle. The strong end-of-easing message caused the zloty to strengthen and also yields ticked higher after the decision. As CPI deflation is likely bottoming out and latest activity data point to strengthening growth momentum, the decision seems to be credible and the NBP can remain on hold for a prolonged period of time. After the rate decision, changes in the global environment played the most important role. With strong activity data coming from the USA, concerns about a sooner-than-expected rate hike strengthened. As a result, USD appreciated significantly and regional local currency bond yields surged.

We took the opportunity and bought some short-end bonds increasing the duration of the Fund. This proved to be a successful decision as FOMC meeting was more dovish than expected, which calmed down tensions, and regional bond yields decreased, especially in the short to intermediate end.
