INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND:

The fund is intended to serve as a stable, moderately low-risk form of investment, and to offer investors higher returns than bank deposits over the medium term. The portfolio elements are selected in accordance with the above principles. To ensure liquidity, the fund primarily aims to hold bonds and discount treasury bills issued by the State Debt Management Centre on behalf of the State of Hungary, as well as bonds issued by the National Bank of Hungary. The fund has a low risk profile, but its portfolio may also contain forint-denominated debt securities issued by banks and corporations, which are expected to yield a higher return than government securities. The fund may also keep its liquid assets in bank deposits. Besides this, the fund may hold a limited proportion of foreign-currency instruments in its portfolio, but only subject to the full hedging of currency risk. Aegon Domestic Bond Fund must hold minimum 80% of its assets in HUF-denominated bonds issued by the members of European Economic Area.

MARKET SUMMARY:

Bond yields edged slightly higher in October. With the surprising Fed decision and the reshuffling of local monetary policy tools in September behind us, trading on the market has been calm. Normalisation of money market yields put some pressure on the short end of the yield curve, but the long end was stable with local buyers versus foreign selling. Slowing global economy and inflation developments favour bond investments, but the correction on the short end hinders a further move down in yields. The big foreign investor keeps on decreasing its holdings, which is also an obstacle of a rally.
