INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND:

The fund's aim is to assemble an investment portfolio for its investors that is comprised of both Hungarian and international money and capital-market instruments, which the fund can optimise through ongoing dynamic asset allocation in order to attain the highest possible yield. The fund is a 'total-return fund', which means that instead of concentrating on just one subsector of the money or capital market, at any given moment it focuses its investments on the area that holds the promise of the highest possible return. Accordingly, the fund may hold government securities and discount treasury bills issued by the State Debt Management Centre (ÁKK) on behalf of the State of Hungary, as well as bonds issued by the National Bank of Hungary, and also bank and corporate bonds that are low risk but are nevertheless likely to earn a higher return than government securities. Besides these the fund's portfolio may also contain shares listed on the domestic stock exchange and the bourses of OECD countries, as well as the government securities, bank and corporate bonds of OECD countries. The fund does not follow a fixed benchmark, and does not adhere to a permanent ratio of shares to bonds, but aims to constantly change this ratio within a broad range; indeed, it is also prepared to take on currency risk (just as international bond/equity funds tend to) through the purchase of international government securities and equities. At the same time, the fund maintains the option to hedge currency risks.

MARKET SUMMARY:

The month of April proved to be pretty volatile on the global capital markets. After gaining in March, leading equity indices started to decline by the second half of April, however risk appetite did not decrease extremely. It is important to mention that the outlook for emerging markets has changed a lot since the end of January. Since then, factors the market have faced as a huge headwind have faded with the USD performing weak, commodities rallying and a somewhat stabilizing China. These developments paired with still supporting developed central bank monetary stance, created a favorable environment for EM hard currency bonds. Both USD and EUR denominated bonds performed well, with spreads tightening by 22 basispoints and 15 basispoints respectively. Provided these, the Fund successfully realized profit on its credit positions, however loss has been realized on Hungarian govies. As a consequence of the realizations, the amount of cash held increased significantly. Equity exposure was still held low, while a Turkish equity short futures position has been opened.
