INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND:

The fund's aim is to earn capital gains by taking positions in a wide range of assets while keeping risk under pre-defined limits. The assets are selected based on fundamental and technical criteria from the widest range of industry and country exposures possible. Based on medium and long-term trends, the fund can buy or sell equities, bonds and other securities, and take various exposures using exchange (futures, options) and OTC derivatives (IRS and currency forwards). Naked shorts on securities are not allowed. The manager selects and builds positions based on fundamental and technical analysis in such a way, that the fund's return can exceed that of bank deposits over a medium-term horizon. Equally important focus is given to risk management which targets Level 5 risk bracket. The fund is not targeting any specific sectors, countries or asset classes, but most of its exposures will be taken on US and European exchanges, or markets regulated by the capital market authorities of the United States of America and the countries of the European Union. The fund's net corrected risk exposure may go up to 200 percent of the portfolio, in accordance with the Hungarian capital market acts and regulations. The fund can also run a net short exposure, also in accordance with the above mentioned regulatory limits.

MARKET SUMMARY:

After a weak start equity markets kept on marching, and it was mostly the European indices which produced a spectacular second half. Japanese stocks were extremely volatile, and even small positions were able to move the net asset value by a large margin. Oil kept its uptrend supporting emerging equity markets and currencies. The dollar was relative stable against the euro but depreciated against the beaten down emerging currency space. The fate of the em currency universe is not clear at this point, and we need to see whether this has been a genuine change on trend or only short term optimism built on firming oil prices.

The fund opened short equity positions in the early days of the month, most of which it needed to stop out. Net equity exposure was negative all along April.
