INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND:

The aim of the fund is to provide an alternative solution for those investors who are expecting a decline of the share prices on the Polish Stock Market. In case of declining share prices by its WIG20 short future exposure the fund ensures that the investor will get extra return on his investment. If the fund manager expects that the stock markets will go up than he reduces the option position, but if he sees higher risk in the stock markets than he will buy more put options for the WIG20 Index. Since the capital protection allows the fund manager to buy only limited amount of futures the maximum short exposure of the fund is 100% of the fund's net asset value. Since the fund is a dedicated bearish fund it intends to keep the WIG20 short exposure 20%-40% of net asset value, depends on the strategy of the Fund Manager. To protect the capital, the Fund mainly invests in Polish treasury bills, government bonds and other debt securities. The Fund offers 90% capital protection for the first trading day of the year under special condition. The 90% capital protection is ensured by the investment policy of the Fund, it does not mean a full capital protection.

MARKET SUMMARY:

Equities did not close strongly in October as except for the Japanese market, main equity indices lost from their value. The increasing fear of FED rate hike and the risk aversion caused by the US presidential election did not support equities. The banking sector was the best performing industry in October as a result of rising interest rates and better-than-expected corporate earnings. The probability of FED rate hike in December escalated during the month and because of that USD was strong compared to major currencies in October. European Central Bank postponed its decision about the future of its QE program due to the fact that decision makers want to wait for the result of FED meeting in December. GBP was punished during the month since it seems like British government pursues a "hard Brexit", which means that Britons will not only leave EU, but also EU's single market in exchange for regaining better control of their immigration policy. Investors started to accommodate themselves to US presidential election at the end of the month by decreasing their risky assets. According to polls, Hillary Clinton has better chances to win the election, which would be a more pleasant outcome for equity markets. After starting strong, oil prices fell from their one-year highs thanks to OPEC, which backed out from its oil freezing agreement, and the strong USD. As a result, oil ended up in the negative territory in October.

Similarly to the region, Polish market had an excellent month in October. From an industry perspective, oil sector was the top performer, while telecom sector was the worst.
