INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND:

The fund's aim is to earn capital gains by taking positions in a wide range of assets while keeping risk under pre-defined limits. The assets are selected based on fundamental and technical criteria from the widest range of industry and country exposures possible. Based on medium and long-term trends, the fund can buy or sell equities, bonds and other securities, and take various exposures using exchange (futures, options) and OTC derivatives (IRS and currency forwards). Naked shorts on securities are not allowed. The manager selects and builds positions based on fundamental and technical analysis in such a way, that the fund's return can exceed that of bank deposits over a medium-term horizon. Equally important focus is given to risk management which targets Level 5 risk bracket. The fund is not targeting any specific sectors, countries or asset classes, but most of its exposures will be taken on US and European exchanges, or markets regulated by the capital market authorities of the United States of America and the countries of the European Union. The fund's net corrected risk exposure may go up to 200 percent of the portfolio, in accordance with the Hungarian capital market acts and regulations. The fund can also run a net short exposure, also in accordance with the above mentioned regulatory limits.

MARKET SUMMARY:

Positive momentum of main equity indices stopped as Donald Trump has brought some actions in the markets, which oscillated within a narrow range in the beginning of the month. Even though Dow Jones index has surpassed the magical 20.000 level in January, the index was not able to maintain this level due to uncertainties around the economic policy of the new US government. The Trump administration had an unfavorable effect on the Japanese and the European equities too, which closed the month in the red. After the inauguration ceremony, Trump got down to work by dumping the Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP) and easing requirements on infrastructure investments. The US government started its protectionist rhetoric in January since it made the question of import tariff and the renegotiation of trade deals its top priorities. Meanwhile, plans on relaxation of regulations and tax reductions were hardly mentioned which investor did not appreciate. Additionally, British PM Theresa May's speech on a "clean" Brexit did not help market mood. May still visualized the future of UK outside the single market but at the same time hopes to have a new free trade deal with the EU. The unsuccessful meeting of European finance ministers on the Greek debt-relief measures also had a detrimental effect on the performance of European markets. Dollar gave back all of its growth from the previous month in January because of the vanishing "Trump trade" positions and the US president's break with the "strong dollar" policy. As a result of the weaker dollar, industrial and precious metals' prices were rising during the month.

The fund raised its net equity exposure to 50% through futures, ETFs and single equity positions. Within the equity exposure, technology and agriculture stocks were the most considerable bets. Direct commodity exposure in the form of soybean and corn was also included in the portfolio. The fund also had GBPUSD shorts and USDMXN longs but these positions were closed because of the negative contribution to the performance.
