MARKET SUMMARY:

Main equity indices performed well in February thanks to the improving macro environment. US equities were supported by the US government's promised tax reform, the inflow of money and the better-than-expected earnings. European stocks were also positively affected by European companies' favorable profit trends. However, the market closely watches risks in Europe. Because of the approaching European elections, investors paid more attention to the strengthening populist parties. Le Pen's support in France has increased in the last surveys, while in the Netherlands the Party for Freedom currently leads the polls. Besides, Greek debt problems are back again. EU and IMF were unable to agree on the necessary Greek reforms as EU officials claimed that IMF is too pessimistic about the path of Greek debt. For these reasons, investors preferred defensive sectors (healthcare and consumer staples stocks) to cyclical. Dollar strengthened in February since more and more central bankers emphasized the need for rate hike in light of the stable economic growth and rising inflation. As a result of European political uncertainties many investors bought safe have assets like gold and silver, which prices soared during the month.

Asian countries continued their growth in February. Indices in the region increased without exception thanks to the strength of macro data, which helped the market mood.
