MARKET SUMMARY:

In February Polish bond yields traded in a very tight range: at the end of the month 3Y yields were unchanged, while the 5Y-10Y bond yields came down approximately by 5bps. Local macro data was not helping with Q4 GDP, unemployment, retail sales, industrial output, inflation numbers all beating consensus expectations and pointing toward an increase in economic momentum. Polish economic surprise index skyrocketed in the last couple of months from a relatively low level. During the next quarter inflation will be boosted mainly by statistical base effects, PLN and commodity price spike (CPI to reach around 2% in H1).

The Ministry of Finance sold PLN 5,9 bln of bonds: OK0419 (yield 2,17%), PS0422 (yield 3,12%), DS0727 (yield 3,81%), and other floaters (WZ1122, WZ0126) in the first auction of February. Demand was high, almost double and not all of it has been covered.

The MPC kept interest rates unchanged during February. The press conference was relatively dovish: current increases in inflation are deemed exogenous, transitory and will only temporarily push inflation above 1,5% as the NBP's forecast do not envisage any danger to the inflation target. In fact, the MPC does not believe that inflation will exceed 2% in any month this year. Comments regarding economic growth were optimistic again. Dovish comments were supportive for short term yields. However, continuous surprises in inflation and economic momentum may be enough to restart rate hike plays.

The Ministry of Finance sold 5 bonds OK0419/PS0422/DS0727/WZ1122/WZ0126 and new 30Y bond, WS0447 on the 16th of February. The total supply was PLN 7 bln. New 30y was sold at 4,26%, (PLN 2,1 bln). Strong demand (almost 13bln for the whole auction) and bid higher than secondary market caused yields to drop.
