MARKET SUMMARY:

Main equity indices achieved mixed results in March. European stocks performed well during the month, US market finished around its last month closing price, while Japanese equities ended slightly in the red. In the beginning of the month US stock market increased because of strong macro data, but the withdrawal of healthcare bill eventually crushed the market mood. Investors believe that the expected fiscal stimulus package should be lower as Obamacare remains in place. Also, high equity exposure did not help the growth of US equities. Contrary to the US market, European stocks were bought thanks to the improving macro, the money inflow in the region and the weakening populist parties. European elections' season has started with the Dutch election, where PM Rutte's party achieved better than expected results, while the far-right party performed below expectations. FED raised its benchmark interest rate by 25 bps in March. However, Yellen suggested a less tight monetary policy in the future. The rate hike was already priced in before the meeting but the less hawkish tone from Yellen was unexpected, as a result USD was weaker from the second half of the month. Oil prices plunged in March as US production increased, high oil long exposures were cut back and investors started to fear of oversupply. At the end of the month prices were rebounded a bit because of plans about the extension of oil output cut. The fund held assets that would have benefitted from bull market, paired with USD long positions. The latter was closed during the month.
