INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND:

The aim of the fund is to provide an alternative solution for those investors who are expecting a decline of the share prices on the Polish Stock Market. In case of declining share prices by its WIG20 short future exposure the fund ensures that the investor will get extra return on his investment. If the fund manager expects that the stock markets will go up than he reduces the option position, but if he sees higher risk in the stock markets than he will buy more put options for the WIG20 Index. Since the capital protection allows the fund manager to buy only limited amount of futures the maximum short exposure of the fund is 100% of the fund's net asset value. Since the fund is a dedicated bearish fund it intends to keep the WIG20 short exposure 20%-40% of net asset value, depends on the strategy of the Fund Manager. To protect the capital, the Fund mainly invests in Polish treasury bills, government bonds and other debt securities. The Fund offers 90% capital protection for the first trading day of the year under special condition. The 90% capital protection is ensured by the investment policy of the Fund, it does not mean a full capital protection.

MARKET SUMMARY:

Main equity indices finished slightly above their last month closing prices in April thanks to the result of the French presidential election and the announcement of Trump's tax reform. In the beginning of April investors built defensive portfolios as several risks kept market participants in suspense. Intensifying North Korean and Syrian tensions, decaying US-Russian relationship, uncertainties around the timeline of Trump's tax plan and the precarious outcome of the French election made investors cautious. By the end of the month equity indices bounced back as US tax reform was unveiled and the result of the first round of the French election was favorable. Also, strong macro environment and better-than-expected corporate earnings supported the market increase. At the end of April Trump announced the main points of the long-awaited tax plan, which was welcomed by the market. However, many members of the Congress oppose against the plan as it is not clear how the government wants to raise revenues to avoid mounting debt. Centrist Emmanuel Macron and far-right populist Marine Le Pen advanced into the second round of the French presidential election, where polls suggest that Macron is the clear favorite. For this reason, European cyclical stocks surged in April, in which the financial sector was the top performing industry, as besides the improving economic growth, political risks also decrease in the region. British PM Theresa May called for a snap general election in Great Britain that will take place in June. As a consequence, the pound appreciated dramatically. Analysts believe that British government will have more room for manoeuvre in the Brexit negotiations. Due to the appreciation of pound, stock prices of export companies in the basic material sector have plunged, negatively affecting the whole British stock market. As a result of increasing geopolitical tensions, investors bought oil in the beginning of the month, but oil prices finished below their last month closing values because of rising US oil supplies.

The Polish market was the top performer in the Central European region because of the strong macro and the outstanding performance of the oil and financial sector.
