INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND:

The objective of the fund is to invest in Central and Eastern European equities. The fund is offered for investors who would like to benefit from the long term performance of regional listed companies. The average equity exposure of the fund is 95%. A primary consideration when compiling the fund's portfolio is the need to optimize the aggregate risk of the securities to be included in the fund. In the interest of reducing the risk, the utmost care is taken when selecting the securities to include in the fund's portfolio. The fund buys shares issued by corporations from countries in the Central European region (primarily Hungary, Poland, the Czech Republic, Romania, Slovenia and Croatia, and secondarily, Austria, Russia and Turkey), but it may also invest in the shares of companies in other emerging and developed countries, as well as in other collective investment securities. The fund may hedge a part or all of its currency risks with forward currency positions. To ensure liquidity the fund aims to hold in its portfolio the government securities on behalf of the State of Hungary and bonds issued by the National Bank of Hungary, but in accordance with the statutory regulations the proportion of shares in the portfolio may be up to 100%.

MARKET SUMMARY:

Main equity indices finished slightly above their last month closing prices in April thanks to the result of the French presidential election and the announcement of Trump's tax reform. In the beginning of April investors built defensive portfolios as several risks kept market participants in suspense. Intensifying North Korean and Syrian tensions, decaying US-Russian relationship, uncertainties around the timeline of Trump's tax plan and the precarious outcome of the French election made investors cautious. By the end of the month equity indices bounced back as US tax reform was unveiled and the result of the first round of the French election was favorable. Also, strong macro environment and better-than-expected corporate earnings supported the market increase. At the end of April Trump announced the main points of the long-awaited tax plan, which was welcomed by the market. However, many members of the Congress oppose against the plan as it is not clear how the government wants to raise revenues to avoid mounting debt. Centrist Emmanuel Macron and far-right populist Marine Le Pen advanced into the second round of the French presidential election, where polls suggest that Macron is the clear favorite. For this reason, European cyclical stocks surged in April, in which the financial sector was the top performing industry, as besides the improving economic growth, political risks also decrease in the region. British PM Theresa May called for a snap general election in Great Britain that will take place in June. As a consequence, the pound appreciated dramatically. Analysts believe that British government will have more room for manoeuvre in the Brexit negotiations. Due to the appreciation of pound, stock prices of export companies in the basic material sector have plunged, negatively affecting the whole British stock market. As a result of increasing geopolitical tensions, investors bought oil in the beginning of the month, but oil prices finished below their last month closing values because of rising US oil supplies.

Central European indices performed well in April as all markets finished in the black. Besides, they were able to beat MSCI Emerging Markets Index. Polish and Austrian stocks were the top performers during the month, while Czech and Romanian markets lagged behind. The fund held Romanian and Austrian OW in its portfolio, in which financial and real estate sectors were the most significant bets.
