INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND:

The fund is intended to serve as a stable, moderately low-risk form of investment, and to offer investors higher returns than bank deposits over the medium term. The portfolio elements are selected in accordance with the above principles. To ensure liquidity, the fund primarily aims to hold bonds and discount treasury bills issued by the State Debt Management Centre on behalf of the State of Hungary, as well as bonds issued by the National Bank of Hungary. The fund has a low risk profile, but its portfolio may also contain forint-denominated debt securities issued by banks and corporations, which are expected to yield a higher return than government securities. The fund may also keep its liquid assets in bank deposits. Besides this, the fund may hold a limited proportion of foreign-currency instruments in its portfolio, but only subject to the full hedging of currency risk. Aegon Domestic Bond Fund must hold minimum 80% of its assets in HUF-denominated bonds issued by the members of European Economic Area.

MARKET SUMMARY:

After EURHUF reached sub 302 levels in August, the sensitivity of the central bank seemd to have been triggered. At the September Monetary Council meeting, a series of easing measures were announced to counter softer than expected inflation prints and probably more importantly to counter HUF strength. Easing measures included a cut in the depo rate to - 15 bps, and announcement of longer tenor HUF liquidity providing FX swaps plus verbal intervention to flatten the yield curve. The package of measures was slightly more aggressive than expectations thus led to a further rally in bond yields in addition to some strengthening before the meeting. All in all, short yields are below zero now with 10-year yields trading around 2.5 %, a 40 bps rally in September.
