INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND:

The fund is intended to serve as a stable, moderately low-risk form of investment, and to offer investors higher returns than bank deposits over the medium term. The portfolio elements are selected in accordance with the above principles. To ensure liquidity, the fund primarily aims to hold bonds and discount treasury bills issued by the State Debt Management Centre on behalf of the State of Hungary, as well as bonds issued by the National Bank of Hungary. The fund has a low risk profile, but its portfolio may also contain forint-denominated debt securities issued by banks and corporations, which are expected to yield a higher return than government securities. The fund may also keep its liquid assets in bank deposits. Besides this, the fund may hold a limited proportion of foreign-currency instruments in its portfolio, but only subject to the full hedging of currency risk. Aegon Domestic Bond Fund must hold minimum 80% of its assets in HUF-denominated bonds issued by the members of European Economic Area.

MARKET SUMMARY:

We saw a significant correction in government bond yields since the end of the year. Dataflow from developed economies remain robust, thus core market yields edged higher as well, as investors started to price quicker monetary tightening in light of the good macro data. Besides the unfavourable global market sentiment local developments did not help either. The first MIRS tender of the central bank which was designed to drive long yields lower, backfired massively as a correction started to unfold on back of a crowded market. Both swap and bond yields increased. Long-end government bond yields rose 30-40 bps by the end of January. We managed to decrease duration of the fund at the start of the correction.
