INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND:

The fund aims to profit from the return on global equity market investments, through share price gains and dividend income. The bulk of its portfolio is made up of the publicly listed shares of foreign companies. When building the fund's portfolio, beyond the minimum statutory requirements, the principles of safety and maximum diversification (the spreading of risk) are observed. Accordingly, the fund primarily buys publicly issued foreign securities that are listed on foreign stock exchanges, and secondarily, it may also invest in shares issued by Hungarian companies. The fund management company, exercising all due care, based on its own judgement and decisions, and while observing the relevant legal provisions and the limitations stipulated in the Fund Documentation, determines the means of utilising the fund's resources, and the weights of the various investments within the portfolio, with a view to ensuring that the fund - in line with our expectations with regard to future risks and returns - achieves its objective in the long term. However, the fund is managed on the premise that when compiling the portfolio, it is shares that determine the nature of the fund. Accordingly, the proportion of shares that may be kept in the fund at any given moment may reach the prevailing statutory maximum. The fund management company is permitted, at its own discretion, to hedge all or a part of its currency risks with forward currency positions, in compliance with the statutory requirements. When compiling the share portfolio, taking into consideration the macroeconomic environment of the investment markets, the aim is to build up a long-term investment portfolio primarily on the basis of fundamental analyses. In accordance with the current legislation, the proportion of shares in the portfolio may be up to 100%.

MARKET SUMMARY:

In November, main equity indices closed in the positive territory and the emerging markets managed to outperform the developed market equities for the first time since March, while Hungarian stocks were able to achieve higher returns than their regional counterparts.

However, oil price suffered its worst month of the past 10 years. The biggest problem for oil is the slowing demand in parallel with the explosion of shale production in the US, thus the investors are afraid of sudden over-supply.

At the end of the month, Jerome Powell gave the last boost for the equities with his announcement, according to his statement they are close to achieving the neutral interest rate, which gave momentum for the equity asset class.

In early November, the US midterm election was in the limelight of the markets, the result was the same that the consensus expected. The Democrats regained the House of Representatives for the first time in eight years but the majority of Republicans remained in the Senate.

At the end of the month, all the attention was paid to the G20 summit, eminently to the Trump-Xi meeting. The talks between the two leaders ended with a ceasefire, which resulted in a 90-day intensive reconciliation period to resolve the conflict between them and the introduction of new tariffs in January has been also postponed. The markets were pleased to see the trade war fears softened, which also helped the stocks' performance.

Some good news emerged in Europe as well, the Italian government showed willingness to compromise in the question of the budget deficit, according to the news the next year's budget deficit can be reduced to 2%.

In addition, we have received significant impulses in connection with Brexit last month. On the one hand, the text of the agreement on the Brexit conditionality system was completed and the EU and Britain agreed on the framework for coexistence after Brexit. However, the parliamentary vote on the first Brexit law will be on December 11 but according to consensus, the British Parliament will not go through the agreement.

The fund outperformed its reference index thanks to the European underweighted and American and Japanese overweighted positions. In November, we sold our exposure in the US natural gas sector, while recently we entered into long European banking sector and emerging market positions. We believe that the European banking sector's underperformance this year is too excessive, while we look more optimistic about the emerging markets as a result of a more positive investor sentiment and favourable pricing levels. The benchmark index of the fund will change from mid-December to move to 100% MSCI World net total return index.
