INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND:

The objective of the fund is to invest in Central and Eastern European equities. The fund is offered for investors who would like to benefit from the long term performance of regional listed companies. The average equity exposure of the fund is 95%. A primary consideration when compiling the fund's portfolio is the need to optimize the aggregate risk of the securities to be included in the fund. In the interest of reducing the risk, the utmost care is taken when selecting the securities to include in the fund's portfolio. The fund buys shares issued by corporations from countries in the Central European region (primarily Hungary, Poland, the Czech Republic, Romania, Slovenia and Croatia, and secondarily, Austria, Russia and Turkey), but it may also invest in the shares of companies in other emerging and developed countries, as well as in other collective investment securities. The fund may hedge a part or all of its currency risks with forward currency positions. To ensure liquidity the fund aims to hold in its portfolio the government securities on behalf of the State of Hungary and bonds issued by the National Bank of Hungary, but in accordance with the statutory regulations the proportion of shares in the portfolio may be up to 100%.

MARKET SUMMARY:

After the record fall in December, the beginning of the year on stock markets has been favourable for the equity prices. Both developed and emerging markets could increase their value. The Emerging market index and America also showed a 9% rise in the first month of the year, while in US dollar terms, Hungarian equities could also rise by 6%. The rise was mainly due to the decline in the Fed's rate hike and the easing of the US-China trade war. In addition, the longest government shutdown in America's history has ended, after Donald Trump has announced that he will sign a budget for three weeks for government agencies. However, the President continues to insist on building the wall on the Mexican border, if no agreement can be reached, another shutdown may come and even a state of emergency can be announced. The oil price also managed to rebound this year thanks to the declining stocks, easing in trade war and turmoil in Venezuela. Europe is still under pressure because of the uncertainty surrounding Brexit. In mid-January, the Brexit draft was voted down by the British Parliament as expected, while Plan B for further steps (planned by the Prime Minister) was voted on 30th January. Although, after the vote, several Representatives of the Union have indicated that they do not support the proposals. Though Theresa May rejects another referendum, some sources suggest that there is already a draft that would offer three versions for the British population: no-deal, May plan or stay. In our opinion, the postponement of 2-years deadline of Article 50 is the most likely scenario, but uncertainty increases the likelihood of a hard-Brexit output. We think that hard-Brexit is not priced in at all, thus such a negative scenario can bring serious sellers to the market but the convergence of the parties and any agreement may reduce pressure on the British and European equities. In the Central European region, the best month was closed by the Austrian market followed by Polish shares, while Romanian papers suffered a significant fall in Forint terms. The Romanian equities continued to be under pressure because of the new government draft for banks and utilities. The fund managed to outperform its benchmark index after having overweight in Austria and Hungary, while Romania and Poland were underweighted. The Austrian market is favored thanks to the good pricing levels and attractive EPS growth, while in the Polish market we see more value in mid-cap companies. Regarding the sectors, we are overweighted in the telecom and real estate sector, while oil and bank shares are underweighted. We believe that the slowdown in Europe and the persistently low yields will not create a favorable environment for the banking sector.
