INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND:

The fund is intended to serve as a stable, moderately low-risk form of investment, and to offer investors higher returns than bank deposits over the medium term. The portfolio elements are selected in accordance with the above principles. To ensure liquidity, the fund primarily aims to hold bonds and discount treasury bills issued by the State Debt Management Centre on behalf of the State of Hungary, as well as bonds issued by the National Bank of Hungary. The fund has a low risk profile, but its portfolio may also contain forint-denominated debt securities issued by banks and corporations, which are expected to yield a higher return than government securities. The fund may also keep its liquid assets in bank deposits. Besides this, the fund may hold a limited proportion of foreign-currency instruments in its portfolio, but only subject to the full hedging of currency risk. Aegon Domestic Bond Fund must hold minimum 80% of its assets in HUF-denominated bonds issued by the members of European Economic Area.

MARKET SUMMARY:

Due to the adverse effects of the coronavirus on the currency and the government bond market, the National Bank of Hungary announced significant changes to its monetary policy framework in April. Right at the beginning of the month the introduction of weekly deposit instrument was announced, that pays the fixed policy rate of 0,9%. This move drove short yields immediately to the level of the base rate. Besides NBH delivered a further implicit rate hike by raising the overnight and one-week collateralized lending rates to 1,85%, which made the interest rate corridor symmetric. And in line with other countries in the region, it also decided to launch a government bond purchase programme in the secondary market. Bids by commercial banks on weekly repo tenders remains strong and supports the mid curve, while central bank purchases will be targeted on the long end, which already rallied massively on the announcement by the end of the month.
