MARKET SUMMARY:

In September, we witnessed some decline in yields on the Polish bond market. Yields were 6-8 basis points lower at the three-year and ten-year maturities and 14 basis points lower at the 5-year maturity than at the beginning of the month. The yield curve thus became somewhat steeper. Moving on to the economic data, the Polish economy is expected to face a recession this year. According to the September forecast the GDP is expected to shrink by 3.6% in 2020 and grow by 4.2% in 2021. Better-than-expected macro data would justify higher yields, but offset by global liquidity and QE programmes. GDP is expected to be -4.3% in the third quarter and the fourth quarter has been revised downwards from -2.7% to -2.9%. Year-on-year inflation accelerated to 3.2% in September from 2.9% in August. Although this has already exceeded the central bank's 2.5% inflation target, the Monetary Council expects that it will slow to 1.5% next year. The central bank forecasts inflation to be 3.3% this year and expects a 1.5% price increase next year. The Purchasing Managers' Index rose to 50.8 points in September from 50.6 points in August, falling below expectations of 52.4 points. The number of new orders increased slightly in parallel with exports. Industrial production grew by 1.5% in August, but still performed below market expectations. As for the government budget, the cumulative deficit for the first eight months was PLN 13 298.5 million, so that in August the government generated a surplus of PLN 2995.8 million. The current account-to-GDP ratio stood at 2.8% after July, the highest surplus on record.
