

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The Fund's aim is to function as a stable, averagely low-risk form of investment, while providing investors with higher returns over the medium term than they could expect from bank deposits. In order to ensure liquidity, the Fund intends primarily to hold in its portfolio government bonds and discount treasury bills issued by the Government Debt Management Agency (ÁKK) on behalf of the Hungarian State, and bonds issued by the National Bank of Hungary (MNB). The Fund may hold in its portfolio low-risk debt securities issued by banks and companies, which are expected to provide higher returns than government securities and are denominated in HUF. The Fund may also keep its liquid assets in bank deposits. The fund may hold a limited amount of foreign currency assets in its portfolio, but only subject to the full hedging of currency risk.

MARKET SUMMARY

In April, year-on-year inflation rose by 9.5%, which was well above market expectations. The rise in inflation is mainly due to higher food prices, but annual increases in services and durable goods have been consistently above 6% and 11% respectively. In May, deputy governor of the central bank suggested that the central bank would slow down the pace of the base rate hikes. Thus, at the May rate decision meeting, the base rate was raised by 50 basis points, but the one-week deposit rate continued to be raised by 30 basis points, so the pace of tightening has not slowed down, only the gap between the two rates will be closed later. Thus, the base rate currently stands at 5.9% and the one-week deposit rate at 6.75%. At the end of May, the government announced fiscal consolidation, with a special tax on extra profits in certain sectors. On the news, the EURHUF exchange rate rose to 393 and the forint has since failed to strengthen meaningfully. By the middle of the month, yields moved up by 30-40 bps before correcting back roughly to initial levels. The domestic real interest rate deteriorated slightly, but is still above the regional average. The path of inflation in 2023 remains uncertain. The budget deteriorated further in April, with the balance jumping to 85% of the full-year deficit plan. Nevertheless, bond issuance is on track, with institutional issuance at 54% at end-May. International sentiment remains poor and recession fears have come to the fore, making us slightly more positive on the asset class. And the announcement of fiscal policy consolidation is also positive from an investor perspective.
