

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The Fund's aim is to function as a stable, averagely low-risk form of investment, while providing investors with higher returns over the medium term than they could expect from bank deposits. In order to ensure liquidity, the Fund intends primarily to hold in its portfolio government bonds and discount treasury bills issued by the Government Debt Management Agency (ÁKK) on behalf of the Hungarian State, and bonds issued by the National Bank of Hungary (MNB). The Fund may hold in its portfolio low-risk debt securities issued by banks and companies, which are expected to provide higher returns than government securities and are denominated in HUF. The Fund may also keep its liquid assets in bank deposits. The fund may hold a limited amount of foreign currency assets in its portfolio, but only subject to the full hedging of currency risk.

MARKET SUMMARY

In January, the year-over-year inflation arrived at 25,7%, above market expectations. The carry-over effect of the abolition of the fuel price cap in December was reflected in the current data, so this product group saw a bigger jump in monthly growth. Contrary to market expectations, there was no rate cut at the January rate decision meeting and the previous hawkish communication was maintained. The required reserve ratio will be raised from 5% to 10% from April, and the use of discount bonds and long maturity deposit tenders will be continued. However, unlike before, discount bond auctions have been opened to financial institutions, so that fund managers can now also access MNB bonds. The short end of the yield curve moved slightly higher, but the long end saw a significant drop in yields. Yields fell by 102 basis points at the 3-year maturity, 179 basis points at the 5-year maturity and 165 basis points at the 10-year maturity. International sentiment was a major support for the asset class in January. Domestic paper valuations have deteriorated somewhat and positioning is at high levels, so we currently maintain interest rate risk at neutral levels.
